

Giving Opportunities

Kiddush

The OCP's famously creative kiddushes never disappoint. Every week following Shabbat morning services, students are able to indulge their appetites at a lavish kiddush featuring themes from the weekly Torah portion, events on campus, or whatever else strikes the Kiddush Committee's creative fancy. Apart from delicious food and clever content, kiddush also provides the community with time to socialize. Kiddush may be sponsored for any special occasion, and sponsors are welcome (but certainly not required) to recommend a kiddush theme.

Special - $200, Extra Special - $250

Seudah Shlishit

The ruach of the OCP comes out every Shabbat during Seudah Shlishit, when students join together to end the day with song and Divrei Torah. Camp-style "slow shira" is accompanied by tasty snacks, pastries, and traditional tuna and egg salad. Seudah Shlishit is a meaningful way to end each and every Shabbat, leaving students with feelings of warmth and achdut that last them throughout the week.

Single Week - $100

Sunday Night Learning (SNL)

SNL continues to offer the most vibrant Torah learning atmosphere on Penn's campus. Each week, over one hundred and twenty students come together to shmooze and enjoy a delicious dinner, courtesy of our generous sponsors. Afterward, everyone proceeds to the beit midrash for an hour of paired Torah study. Sunday Night Learning is usually sponsored in memory of a loved one, for whom a dedication page is distributed throughout the beit midrash.

Scholars in Residence (SIR)

As part of our educational programming, the Scholar in Residence Committee invites honored rabbis and prestigious scholars to address our community throughout the year. Shabbat Scholars in Residence programming can cost upwards of $1000, but no two guests are the same, and the cost of a weekend can vary. We are more than happy to work with sponsors in order to bring the most dynamic and stimulating speakers to Penn.

Sponsorship Costs Vary

University City Eruv

The University City Eruv serves the OCP and GAP communities and is maintained entirely by students and student and parent donations. Members of the community check the eruv, which spans fifteen square blocks and includes Penn's campus, Drexel's campus, several local hospitals, and off-campus housing.

Single Week - $36

Donations and event sponsorships can be made in memory of a loved one or in honor of a special event. Partial sponsorships are always welcome. Additionally, gifts can be made in support of social activities, books for the beit midrash (which we'll be restocking in February!), Mishmar, Chessed, and any of the other programming that makes the OCP the most vibrant Orthodox Jewish community on any college campus.
